REMARKS: Marcia,

Here are the lab results for sediment taken from within the chromate basin prior to demolition. This material is in the current stockpile, which also includes the chromate impregnated concrete and debris that was removed as this area was demolished.

I think these results are probably on the elevated side, but we have made no attempt to sample the concrete. The concrete is visibly stained however.

I hope this provides the information you need. Feel free to call if you have further questions!

Bob
